

Matt Bromberg

Corporate Vice President, Global Operations
Northrop Grumman

Matt Bromberg is corporate vice president of Global Operations for Northrop Grumman, a technology company focused on global security and human discovery.

Bromberg is responsible for enterprise-wide strategy and execution of programs, operations, quality, global supply chain and technology functions. In this role, Bromberg partners with the Northrop Grumman sector presidents to deliver customer focused and valued solutions. Bromberg also leads the corporate Operations Council and is a member of the company's executive leadership team.

Prior to joining Northrop Grumman in 2022, Bromberg developed broad experience leading global teams across the industrial, aerospace and defense industries. Most recently, Bromberg served as the president of Military Engines at Pratt & Whitney—a division of Raytheon Technologies. In his 20 years at Raytheon, Bromberg held numerous senior leadership positions across the enterprise including general management, corporate strategy, and business development. Prior to joining Raytheon, he was an Investment Banker with Goldman Sachs, and he served as a submarine officer in the U.S. Navy.

Bromberg earned a bachelor's degree in physics from the University of California, Berkeley, and a Master of Business Administration and a master's degree in mechanical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Presently, he serves on the Board of Governors of the United Services Organization, and on the Board of Trustees of the Naval Aviation Museum Foundation. Bromberg also serves as a strategic advisor to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Leaders for Global Operations program.
